Ninth—Keeping correct and accurate records of important matters and occurrences—always important to a well regulated Police.

Tenth—Putting all connected with it under a severe and just discipline, while actually on duty—holding them at all times and under all circumstances responsible for an entire control of temper, gentlemanly deportment, and a strict performance of duty.

Eleventh—Withholding all compensation except such as is paid out of the public treasury.

Twefith—By so arranging the system that receiving shops should be discovered and broken up or the stolen property immediately traced.

Thirteenth—Goin for it the respect, confidence, and invaluable aid of the private citiz n.

Fourteenth—By making it a credit, that it may cease to be a reproach, to be attached to the Police.

Fifteenth—Giving encouragement by proper rewards and promations for extraordinary talent and exertion.

Sixteenth—Selecting men for particular duties but adapted by their knowledge, capacity, quickness, &c.

Seventeenth—Making moral character the great basis; fitness and knowledge pro-requisite of admission.

These are the general outlines and principles of the improvements which in my judgment are required by the wants and intdrests of the citizen. The particular mode of introducing it would require lengthy detail and explanation, and many of the particular resons for their adoption, aught not to be made known beyond the Police Department.

The ingenuity of the reque is so great, that when a dis-tion, ought not to be made known beyond the Police Department.

The ingenuity of the regue is so great, that when a discovery is made of the particular means of prevention or detection, artful contrivance to overreach the law officers, at once resorted to. Perhaps the improvements suggisted cannot be accomplished. I think they may.

The expense is an important question—one of grave consideration. My duties have been so severe that I have been obliged very hastily to prepare this report, and have not been able to go into an examination of the probable cost. I believe that on the principles I have suggested the aggregate expense would be less than it now is. The cost to the city now, speaking from memory, is about $500,000 annually. At first, and until the system shall become fully matured and in operation, it might somewhat increase the sum—but not to any great amount.

I firmly believe that within three years it would decrease the expenditure more than $60,000 per annum—allowing for the increase of population.

To go into an accurate calculation would require time and a relief from my present engagements in the public service.

I will endeavor (if it is still desired) at a future meeting.

and a relief from my present engagements in the public service.

I will endeavor (if it is still desired) at a future meeting of the Board, to give them some statistics of the present expenditure, and give an estimate of the probable cost of the improvements proposed.

My sole object is to lend my feeble aid to the accomplishment of some good in the alteration of the present condition of the Police; knowing as I do, from my official labors, how much it needs it.

I am well satisfied, however, that if any thing is done, the Common Council must place confidence in some persons to whom the matter may be given in charge, or the work never can or will be accomplished.

Very respectfully submitted,

J. R. WHITING,

District Attorney.

Shortly after reading of the above report, the famous Street Sweeping Contract, which passed both Boards—wasyectoed by the Mayor—again passed the Board of Aldermen, and was now taken up again by the Board of Assistants. The question was met on the threshold by the democrats, who brought up a rule of the Board requiring a two-thirds vote to take up papers for concurrence from the other Board on the same evening. The whigs contended that the majority who made the rule, had power also to suspend it.

also to suspend it.

[Understanding that the opposition intended to make a long null, and a strong pull, and a pull altogether to defeat the ordinance, which would probably cause another session till cockcrowing—and also understanding that the majority were determined, nolens volens, to pass it, we therefore left the Board in session at about 11 c-lock—Alderman Brown on the floor—and report the ordinance as passed, and the Board as probably adjourned by this tima!

HONORA SHEPHERD ESCAPED FROM PRISON.—This woman, known as one of the most expert passers of counterfeit money, and who was convicted last week in the Court of Sessions, of having a large amount in her possession, with intent to pass it, and remanded to prison for sentence, escaped from the city prison yesterday afternoon, having as is supposed dressed herself in boys' clothes for that purpose. Colonel Jones, the keeper, should investigate this affair thoroughly, however.
Police.—On Sunday last two wharf rats, named Matthew O'Brian and Job Owen, entered the junk shop of Edward Carroll, 259 Stanton street, and sold a quantity of copper pipe that appeared to have belonged to a camboose, and which was no doubt stolen. On leaving the premises, Carroll discovered that the thieves with whom contained $27.50. The conscience of the rogues prompt. the theft, gave back the sum of $7,50, but refused to return any more. Carroll entered complaint at the upper police, and officer Brown soon arrested the two thieves, and also brought the stolen copper pipe to the office, where the owner will find it.

LIFE BOATS.—A Francis's patent Life Boat was sent to Eogland yesterday, for a British frigate, that one hundred persons cannot swamp. There is considerable difference between this and a boat that will only sustain one man and scarcely that. In future all these boats are to be stamped so that passengers will have opportunity of seeing for themselves if vessels are provided with them.

AN OUTRAGE.—Under this caption in yesterday's Herald, giving an account of a gross outrage on an aged civizen, by a Dry Dock stage driver, you remark that "such a fellow would insult a female passenger with more pleasure than eat a dinner."—Such a fellow did insult, and outrageously insult, a very young female, some two or three weeks since, at the corner of Eldridge and Grand streets. She had handed him a ticket, got out of the stage and had reached Eldridge street, when the driver violently seized hold of her, and demanded one shilling from her, using profane language, and fiercely telling her that if she did not pay him he would force her into the stage, and take ner to the stage house. Being excessively alarmed, she gave him a shilling, telling him the ticket had been given to her mother, by one of the drivers of that line, and requesting him to return it. This, however, with curses he refused. Doubtless the villain is the same who abused the aged gentleman. AN OUTRAGE.-Under this caption in yesterday's the aged gentleman.

The Jamaica Legislature has granted a premium of £50 to Mr. Gourgues for his success in the cultivation of cotton. It appears from the report of the committee appointed to investigate into Mr. Gourgue's claim, that from 10 acres of land in the parish of St. Andrew, planted in 1841, a crop of 10,000 lbs of cotton was obtained, and that a much larger crop from the same fields is expected early in the coming year—and that the cost of cultivation and preparation for market of such crop was £119 10 3d; and that the net proceeds thereof has amounted to the sum of £233 6s 8d, thereby showing an apparent profit upon the cultivation in question of £113 16s 4d, or nearly 100 per cent.

107 GREAT VERDICT IN THE PHYSICAL COURT.—Came on recently before the assembled wisdom of the country, which was called together on this important occasion for the trial of one of the most important cases that the world has witnessed. This was no less than a bill of indictment preferred by that arch demon, Consumption, against the most popular and valuable remedy of the age, by universal acknowledgment, Pease and Son's Hoarhound Candy. It was fully and clearly proved that in the extirpation of the most dangerous complaints which end in death, this medicine has completely overthrown. More than ten thousand witnesses testified to this fact, and stated it as their belief that through its influence Consumption would soon be driven entirely from the land. The jury, without leaving their seats, returned at once a verdict for the defendants amid the congratulations of an audience who had all, to a greater or lesser extent, felt its benign influence in the recovery of that great blessing, health. Remember this, ye afflicted, in time. If you are troub ed with the least inclination towards cough or cold, do not forget that they are the advanced guaris of consumption, the heralds of his approach. A resolution passed the North Carolina House of Com nons on the 7th instant (year 58 nays 54), to accede to the proposition of the individual stockholders, made at their late meeting, for the "adoption of such measures as may be necessary for closing the business of the Bank of North Carolina, and dividing the capital stock among the proprietors thereof, at as early a day as is consistent with the security of the debts, and reasonable indulgence to the debtors of the bank." The resolution has yet to receive the action of the Senate. There is some doubt whether it will pass that body.

We stated some time since that there is a strong disposi tion among strictly business men to transact their money affairs rather with well known individual houses than with Banks, not only because of the discredit attac ed to the latter, but from the vexations to which dealers are exposed. Cases in point occur at the Union Bank, as well as others, daily. For instance, a gentleman came to this a house of the first standing, taking their notes for the amount; these he endorsed, and applied at the Union Bank for discount, where precisely similar paper has been done repeatedly before. The paper was rejected on the ground that the endorser "was not a citizen." He was then told confidentially by the Bank officer that the paper would be done for him by a broker in Hanover street. The applicant did not however go there, and when this was dis covered the bank runner was chasing him in all directions to bring his paper back to the bank. This is no the only case by many. Now such conduct is in the last degree contemptible ,as well as injurious to the interest of the stockholders. It every bank is to keep a shaver in its employ, how are th stockholders to know that they do not ultimately ge-stuck with the bad paper through favoritism The great revolution which has been going on for a few years in banking, will produce the most beneficial effects on the industrious classes. The country has been impoverished and swindled to an almost inconceivable extent by a small class of bankers, under the pretence of facilitating trade. The once wealthy State of Virginia has been impoverished by this villainous system. In bringing to gether figures, the results are absolutely astonishing, even to those who are in some degree prepared for it. We will look at the scalary look at the actual state of fairs in Virginia. The operation will be made more clear by taking the largest bank separately—the Bank of Virginia. That concern went into operation in 1805, and during the time since clapsed, being thirty-seven years, has actually divided and paid among 704 individuals, according to its own sworn returns, $17,179,080. This sum was paid by Virginians in the proceeds of their labor, for the privilege of using an annual average of $329,100 of the paper promises of the associated 704 persons, as a currency. In the year 1818, the circulation of the bank was $1,039,680, and the Richmond office paid a dividend of 23 per cent. In 1821 the circulation fell to $114.379, and the Richmond office paid but 5 per cent. In $114.379, and the Richmond office paid but 5 per cent. In 1837 the circulation again reached $1,197,660, and again the bank paid 20 percent dividend. What an abominable swindle is this! If the bank had never existed, and the people, instead of giving $17,179,000 to the bankers for nothing, had spent $5,000,000 for specie, the State would now have had a sound currency, and not only been $12,-000,000 richer, in hard cash, equal to three entire crops of tobacco, but would have saved all the losses that have grown out of the continual fluctuations of the bank. The people are beginning to see this, and the man who has conducted the bubble for forty years has at last been has conducted the bubble for forty years has at last been ejected from the Presidentship, on various charges, one of which is contained in the following attempted apology for it by one of the paper mongers in a Virginia print:—

"The other incident was a case of bills drawn by a manufacturer of Tobacco—also a relation of the late cashier—which, at a period of sudden embarrassmeat at the north, were, with other bills, drawn by a number of concerns similarly situated, returned to the Bank protested. The charge urged by the friends of the President against the late Cashier, was, that he suffered those bills of his relation to remain unpaid. This charges is eague, and in modern times, is so general in character, that no importance would have attached to it, nor indeed would it have been made at all, except (as in the charge just noticed) it happened to apply to a connection of the late Cashier. The public already understand full well, that in the late embezzlement there was nothing charged against the late Cashier, which could not with greater propriety be charged against the President and Directors."

Is not this bold, easy and cool? Here is a financier, with

Is not this bold, easy and cool? Here is a finan the most perfect non-chalance, avowing that for a bank officer to lend his relations money and let the notes lay over without scruple, is scarcely worthy notice, and is of every day occurrence. The public have long known that chartered privileges to a few promote favoritism, but were not prepared for so bold a position.

Now, while people submit to this immense taxation for the benefit of a handful of individuals, they refuse to pay the debts contracted by the State, because the tax, though small in comparison, is levied in a direct manner. This is very marked in the case of Pennsylvania. Take the case of the U. S. Bank. The number of stockholders was 4,523 The capital of this Bank was $35,000,000, and the pro its in 20 years of its existence amounted to $70,000,000, whereof 30 per cent, or $21,000,000 was sent to Europe, and 49 per cent or $28,006,000, paid out of Pennsylvania, making $49,000,000 paid voluntarily by people who were shouting hezannas to the 4,523 persons who received this enormous amount of money from them as if they impart-ed some great blessing by so doing. In 1840 Pennsylvania was on the point of failure for want of $800,000 to pay her interest. The Legislature on the 11th June levied a tax on personal property, estimated to yield $1 000,000. In Jan. 1841, the Governor, in his message, stated that none of the tax had been collected, and that the county officers had taken no steps in the matter. This was because taxation was unpopular. In the message of Jan. 1842, the proceeds of this tax are stated at $33,000, instead of $1,000,000. Now why are the people willing to give $70,000 000 to 4,500 people for the use of their bills, and will not pay $1,000,000 for the honor of the State ? It is out the means.
